Scope of Authority

4. Our Order Execution Policy applies when we execute orders from Clients to trade in any of the Financial Instruments offered by us, which include (but are not limited to) Contract for Difference (on Currency pairs (Forex), Indices, Commodities, Futures, Shares) Equities and Exchange Traded Funds.
5. Subject to any specific instructions that may be given by you, we will take all sufficient steps to obtain the best possible result for our Clients, considering the Execution Factors listed below. What constitutes best execution will vary with the circumstances of the order and the preferences of the client.
6. We will determine the relative importance of the Execution Factors by using our commercial judgment and experience considering the market information available to us and taking into account the Execution Factors described below.

Order Execution Obligations

7. You acknowledge that we shall deal with you as a Retail Client and that the Client Protection Rules set out under the Capital Markets Act and its enabling Regulations shall apply to you.
8. While executing your orders, we shall take into consideration the following factors: price; costs; speed; likelihood of execution and settlement; size; nature or any other consideration relevant to the execution of the order.
9. Company shall quote two prices: the Ask Price (BUY), at which the Client can buy the instrument, and the Bid Price (SELL), at which the Client can sell it. The prices are updated as frequently as the limitations of technology and communications links allow but should be considered an indication of the live market price rather than a quotation.

10. The number and price of shares is indicative and may vary at execution of market orders. This indicative price may vary from the price at which a trade may be executed, depending on factors such as, but not limited to movements in the foreign exchange markets between the time that you placed the Instruction and the time that the Instruction was executed. that the Instruction is executed.
11. The Company reviews its third-party external reference sources from day to day to ensure that the data obtained is as timely and accurate as can be. When the price reaches an order set by you, for example: Stop Loss, Take Profit, Market Order, Limit Order, these orders are executed immediately. However, under certain trading conditions there is a possibility that these orders cannot be executed at the Client's requested price. When this happens, the Company has the right to execute the order at the first available price.
12. The Company places significant importance on the high speed of execution of Clients' orders at all times, within the limitations of technology and communications links. The speed of execution can be affected by factors such as a poor Internet connection, or any other link to the Company's servers and platform which may affect the execution of the Clients' orders.
13. There are instances where it may not be possible to execute an order due to external factors such as news, start of trading sessions, periods of high volatility etc. Where such circumstances arise, we reserve the right to decline an order of any type or to offer Clients a new price for their orders.
14. Upon the execution of an order, the Company shall proceed to the immediate settlement of such an order.
15. Settlement risk is higher than trading whole shares on exchange, but counterparty risk is part and parcel of fractional shares. We conduct due diligence on its sister company annually, and has insight into their capital, as a fellow Group member. The Company is therefore well informed as to the possibility of default. If you do not receive on-screen confirmation of a trade you should check with us whether the deal has been executed.
16. The minimum size of an order for each Financial Instrument is published on our website. The Company reserves the right to change the margin requirements when the equity of an account is above a certain level, which is specified on our website.
17. Our charges may be incorporated as a mark-up or mark-down (the difference between the price at which we take a principal position and the transaction execution price with you). Our price quote in many markets already includes our spread and there will be no additional fees or commissions due from you.

 - i. the client order;
 - ii. the Financial Instruments that are the subject of that order; and
 - iii. the Execution Venues to which that order can be directed.
